Infernal Machines.

It was not until more than two centuries after the famous 5th of November that the idea of employing a fulminating process against the chief of the state was adopted in France, where twice in two months an attempt was made to blow up Napoleon, at that time First Consul. It was in each instance on the occasion of visiting the opera that Napoleon, according to the designs of his enemies, was to be blown to pieces. The Paris Opera House has, in fact, been the chosen scene for carrying out a large number of murderous projects against the ruler of the country. In addition to the two attempts made on the life of Naleon I., it was in front of the opera that the Orsini shells were thrown which so nearly disposed of Napoleon III. in the year 1857. It was beneath the portico, too, in the old Opera, in the Rue Richelieu, that the Duc de Berri was assassinated; but it would be too long a story to give even the briefest accounts of attacks made upon sovereigns by ordinary means. It was intended to employ against Napoleon I. a destructive method of a mixed kind. Rockets and grenades were to be hurled from various parts of the theater into his box. But, to insure his death, conspirators armed with daggers and pistols were stationed in the corridors into which the box opened, with orders to shoot and stab him, if, escaping the missiles, he attempted to make his way to the outer doors. The conspiracy, according to Napoleon himself, who told the story at St. Helena, was revealed by a Captain in the line. "What limit is there," said Napoleon, "to the combinations of folly and stupidity? This officer had a horror of me as Consul but adored me as General. He was anxious that I should be torn from my post, but he would have been very sorry that my life should be taken. I ought to be made prisoner, he said, in no way injured, and sent to the army to continue to defeat the enemies of France. The other conspirators laughed in his face, and when he saw them distributing daggers, and that they were going beyond his intentions, he proceeded at once to denounce the whole affair."

The informer having been brought before him, Napoleon at first suggested to the Prefect of Police that he should not be allowed to go to the opera that evening. It was decided, however, that his absence would awaken the suspicions of the other conspirators, and everything was allowed to go on as though the plot had not been discovered. The sentinels outside Napoleon's box were ordered to let no one approach who had not the password, issued immediately before the Consul's departure for the opera; for it was known that a certain number of conspirators had taken up their position in the corridor to extinguish the lights at the moment when the rockets were to be fired and the shells thrown. The opera for the evening was "Les Horaces," a work composed by Porta to a libretto founded on Corneille's tragedy, and the signal for action was to be the delivery of a passage in which the Horatii swear to conquer or die. Then all the lights were to be put out, and, apart from the shells intended for the Emperor, fire-works were to be cast indiscriminately about the theater, while the general confusion was to be increased by cries of "Fire!" The leaders of the plot, like the claquers of the present day, had attended the rehearsal of the opera so as to note the cue given to them for the grand demonstration and attack. But at the performance the Prefecture of Police was also largely represented, and there were altogether upward of 200 persons in the theater who were paying no attention to the music except with a view to a particular quartet, in which the old Horatius opened the piece by calling upon his sons to swear "que le dernier de vous sera mort ou vainqueur." The instrumental introduction to the quartet was, however, the signal for action chosen by the police, and before the singing began the conspirators were all in custody in one of the vestibules of the theater.—New York Herald.

Resolutions on a Wedding Day.

When the celebrated Theodore Parker married Miss Cabot, he entered in his journal, on his wedding day, the subjoined resolutions, the keeping of which made his married life a happy one:

1. Never, except for the best of reasons, to oppose my wife's will.
2. To discharge all duties for her sake freely.
3. Never to scold.
4. Never to look cross at her.
5. Never to weary her with commands.
6. To promote her piety.
7. To bear her burdens.
8. To overlook her foibles.
9. To save, cherish, and forever defend her.
10. To remember her always, most affectionately in my prayers.

Thus, God willing, we shall be blessed.

34 PIANOS AND ORGANS.

To select from at BAGNALL'S OLD ESTABLISHED MUSIC STORE. Pianos and Organs for hire or sold on easy terms. A few Second-hand Pianos for sale from $65. J. Bagnall, Piano and Organ Tuner, Government Street, Victoria. *

Tea, Coffee and Chocolate.

The editor of Science thus discusses the value and effects of the above beverages: "Chocolate," he says, "from its large proportion of albumen, is the most nutritive beverage, but, at the same time, from its quantity of fat, the most difficult to digest. Its aromatic substances, however, strengthen the digestion. A cup of chocolate is an excellent restorative and invigorating refreshment even for weak persons, provided their digestive organs are not too delicate. Cardinal Richelieu attributed to chocolate his health and hilarity during his later years. Tea and coffee do not afford this advantage. Albumen in tea leaves and legumin in coffee berries are represented in very scanty proportions. The praise of tea and coffee as nutritive substances is, therefore, hardly warranted. Tea and coffee, though of themselves not difficult of digestion, tend to disturb the digestion of bituminous substances by precipitating them from their dissolved state. Milk, therefore, if mixed with tea or coffee, is more difficult of digestion than if taken alone, and coffee alone without cream produces digestion after dinner by increasing the secretion of the dissolving juices. The volatile oil of coffee and the empyreumatic and aromatic matters of chocolate accelerate the circulation, which, on the other hand, is calmed by tea. Tea and coffee both excite the activity of the brain and nerves. Tea, it is said, increases the power of digesting the impressions we have received, creates a thorough meditation, and, in spite of the movements of thoughts, permits the attention to be fixed upon a certain subject. On the other hand, if tea is taken in excess it causes an increased irritability of the nerves, characterized by sleeplessness, with a general feeling of restlessness and trembling of the limbs. Coffee also, if taken in excess, produces sleeplessness and many baneful effects very similar to those arising from tea-drinking. Coffee, however, produces a greater excitement and a sensation of restlessness and heat ensues. For throwing off this condition fresh air is the best antidote."

The Seeds of Disease.

Most people think bad smells prolific of infection, and carrion and decaying matter generally to be breeders of disease. Some are quite satisfied when the foul air is deodorized, quite unaware that the infective particles may remain the same.

But we must not mistake here. Our success in battling with epidemics will depend on our getting at the exact truth in the case.

Liberia soon becomes the grave of every white man that goes there to stay; but the keenest scent detects nothing of the malaria in the atmosphere.

All may be fragrance and beauty where yellow fever is decimating the population. It was the finest parts of Chicago that were ravaged by scarlet fever, while the other parts were almost exempt. Diphtheria has of late years had proportionally more victims in the mountainous regions of Massachusetts than in Boston and our larger cities.

The fact is, infectious diseases come of germs just as truly as the products of our fields come of the seed sown. These germs are almost infinitely small but their mature plants—they are strictly vegetable—have the power to multiply at an almost infinite rate. Each disease has its own germ. Small-pox cannot come from typhoid germs; nor measles from scarlatina; nor yellow fever from cholera—and so universally. They must come each from its own seed, as much so as wheat, corn, the apple, elm or oak. They cannot come without seed, for science knows of no spontaneous generation.

But the seeds of higher order require good soil and other favoring conditions. It is equally so with the seeds of disease. Their choicest soil is filth, and there is no other favorable condition equal to a depressed state of one's physical system—whether depressed by bad food, impure air, sensual indulgence, long-continued anxiety, fear, watching or undue fasting.—Youth's Companion.

A Natural Curiosity.

One of the natural curiosities of Florida is a subterranean river, which is known as Silver Springs.

It bubbles up in a basin nearly 100 feet deep and about an acre in extent, discharging a stream 60 to 100 feet wide, and extending six or eight miles to the Ocklahawa river. It forms a natural inland port, to which three steamers run regularly from St. John's. The water is so clear that it seems even more transparent than air, and not only the fish that frequent it, but every article on the bottom, can be seen with remarkable distinctness.

IN the last fifteen years the State of Louisiana has expended for levees and repairs the sum of $11,765,500.

A SONG.

Bring me the juice of the honey-fruit,
The large, translucent, amber-hued,
Rare grapes of southern isles, to suit
The luxury that fills my mood.
And bring me only such as grew
Where rarest maidens tend the bowers,
And only fed by rain and dew
Which first had bathed a bank of flowers.
They must have hung on spicy trees,
In airs of far enchanted vales,
And all night heard the ecstasies
Of noble-throated nightingales.
So that the virtues that belong
To flowers may therein tasted be,
And that which hath been thrilled with song
May give a thrill of song to me.
For I would wake that string for thee
What hath too long in silence hung;
And sweeter than all else should be
The song which in thy praise is sung.

—T. Buchanan Read.

Romantic Duels.

Duels make up almost all the interest of M. Fortuno du Boisgobey's story, "L'Epingle Rose." The first incident in the story is the return of one of the heroes, Fabien, from a party. He loses his road, finds himself in an unknown part of old Paris (the date is about 1823) and meets a man with a sedan-chair. The man of the sedan-chair says that his invalid brother is within it, and asks Fabien to help him to carry the patient to a hospital. The good-natured hero consents; the police come up; the other man decamps, and the body of Fabien's cousin is found in the chair. He has been killed by a sword-thrust in the eye. Next we have an encounter in a fencing room between one of the Swiss Guard and Marcas, the villain, with two of his friends. The weapons are foils, with the buttons removed. The Swiss fights the two others first, and wounds both, in spite of their policy of breaking ground and retreating. When it comes to Marcas' turn, he proposes to fight on the billiard table, that there may be no chance of retreat on either side. He then leaps within his antagonist's guard, and stabs him in the eye. But Marcas' great duel is fought with pistols in the vaults under a hall where the Carbonari are about to meet. His antagonist is Fabien, the hero. The conditions are that each party may advance as he pleases to a spot in the center of the ground. Each has a loaded pistol, and two extra charges. The weapons of course are the old flint locks. Fabien is smoking a cigar. At the first fire both men miss. Marcas' second fire knocks off the hammer of Fabien's pistol. The latter is thus disarmed, and all seems over. The miscreant Marcas begins to mock his victim, loads with great deliberation, and promises, if possible, to kill him with a single shot. The feelings of the reader (if he does not foresee what follows) are powerfully worked on, for Marcas has been killing respectable people, right and left, all through the story. A happy thought occurs to Fabien. He throws open the pan of his flint-lock, and sees that the priming is all right. "You see that you are not disarmed," sneers the miscreant Marcas; "If a spark [illegible] from one of the torches, your pistol [illegible] still go off." Fabien calmly [illegible] that he means to kill Marcas, levels his weapon with steady aim, and fires the priming with the lighted end of his [illegible]. Marcas is shot through the body and expires in an unrepentant frame of mind.

The Language of Sweet Sixteen.

"My daughter never uses slang," says some staid pater familias, who is denouncing the idea that the American young lady speaks any other than the purest college-taught English, and he is sincere in his belief. But should some curious senior, with an eye to the truth, linger near this young lady and her school friends, ten to one this is an exact and not overdrawn description of what he would hear.

"Meet me on the ave' this aft' and we will go to the mat'."

"No! not this aft' on the ave'."

"Well, good aft'!"

"I had a perfectly mag' time, and don't you forget it."

"Don't give me away, Kate."

"Well I should softly exclaim."

"I should blush to murmur."

"I should remark."

"I should mutter."

"I should smile."

"Are you going to the musicale?"

"You just bet I am."

"Have you got your lesson in physical geography?"

"What do you take me for?"

"I told the Guv' I wanted a new handkerchief dress."

"Did he tumble to the racket?"

"Did he trail?"

"Did he catch on?"

"He forked over, girls, and it's my treat."

These are the sweet girl graduates who stand up in the month of roses and read charming essays on "The Real and the Ideal," "Life as it Should Be," "Reforms," and other practical subjects, and who turn from admiring teachers to whom they have listened with tears in their mock-serious eyes, to say in a low aside, "He's giving us taffy, girls," and who christen everything that does not please them as "snide."

This period of slang among school girls is infectious. They catch it just as they did the measles and whooping cough at an earlier age, and it runs its course and leaves them about as harmlessly. Their good, proper mothers and grandmothers said all their lives, "Will you take a walk?" The "Dare-to-be-a Daniel" of this age says to her chum, "Take a crawl on the ave?"—Free Press.

ONE of Sothern's last requests was that his friends should not attend his burial, as "people catch such colds standing about in grave-yards with their hats off."

HELP

Yourselves by making money when a golden chance is offered, thereby always keeping poverty from your door. Those who always take advantage of the good chances for making money that are offered, generally become wealthy, while those who do not improve such chances remain in poverty. We want many men, women, boys and girls to work for us right in their own localities. The business will pay more than ten times ordinary wages. We furnish an expensive outfit and all that you need free. No one who engages fails to make money rapidly. You can devote your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. Full information and all that is needed sent free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine. ja7dw

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 18TH, 1881.

L. P. FISHER, Advertising Agent, 21 Merchants Exchange, San Francisco, is authorised to receive advertisements for the columns of this paper.

THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE WESTERN SLOPE.

The evidence taken before the justices of the peace at Westminster on Thursday and published exclusively in The Colonist yesterday has opened the eyes of the public to the motives which animated the prosecutor and the men whose tool he is. The proceedings were instituted—not in the public interest—as one of the witnesses confessed; but to crush out an opposition boat; and, as the prosecutor acknowledged, because he was paid to prefer the charge against MOORE. Another witness acknowledged that he had subscribed $10 towards a purse made up by the citizens of New Westminster to prevent the Slope continuing her Through trips. This testimony is quite sufficient to expose the animus of the opposition to the Slope and requires little further comment. In January the persons who are foremost in the persecution of Captain Moore made themselves ridiculous at Ottawa through their representative by clamoring for a bill to prevent the Western Slope crossing the gulf. Their bill having been laughed out of Parliament and the Slope having been proved by actual test to be a first-class gulf boat, they are now doing their little best to prove that she is a gulf boat and not a river boat! What will the authorities at Ottawa think of the people of the Royal City after this sorry exhibition of inconsistency and spite? We have no idea of the amount of steam required by the Slope to reach Yale, but there are persons who assert that an order which would terminate her trips would terminate the Yale trips of every steamboat on Fraser river. The effect would then be to cause all boats now running on that river to discharge cargo at Emory city and ply regularly between Victoria and Emory until the completion of the road to Port Moody. How would that suit the denizens of the Lower Fraser?

KINCOLETH.

Strange doings are reported from Kincoleth, Naas river. We gave the account in extenso on Thursday. It is asserted that ten Indians of the Kincoleth village have been convicted before Mr. CROASDAILE, J. P., of obstructing a minister of the Gospel in the performance of his duty in burying the dead. It would appear that the Indians brought the body of a tribal friend to Rev. Mr. and requested him to bury it. The village, SHUTT, if the account before us is true, agreed to bury the body if the Indians would attend church in the evening. Having no food the Indians declined to comply with this request and took the body and buried it themselves according to their idea of the Christian burial rites. For this act, it is said, they were summoned before Mr. CROASDAILE and heavily fined. In addition to the money penalty they were required to exhume the body and deposit it in the church, after which it was again interred. We hope that this story may prove to be an exaggeration. Mr. CROASDAILE is an intelligent gentleman and, we think, fair-minded; therefore, we are loath to believe that he would even countenance by the issue of summonses a complaint so frivolous as that laid by Mr. SHUTT, whose duty it was to have buried the remains without parley or stipulation. The only excuse that can possibly exist for the extraordinary conduct of Mr. SHUTT and the subsequent extraordinary proceeding before the justice in finiing the men and ordering the exhumation of the remains may be a suspicion in their minds that the man came to his death through foul play. Upon any other hypothesis the treatment of the Indians cannot be palliated. There should be an inquiry.

REPUDIATION.

The government through their organ indignantly repudiate all connection with the "I say, and don't you forget it" advertisement in the Nanaimo Free Press; but they meanly try to throw the entire responsibility of the vulgarity upon the newspaper itself. The repudiation would have been sufficient, it seems to us, without resort to a falsehood. It is patent to everyone that the paragraph is not a news item. Had it been such it would have appeared but once and not then "starred." In the Free Press it has appeared at least three times and bears the distinguished mark of a special advertisement. The makeshift of the organ, like boarding-house milk, is too thin to deceive even a blind man. The finance minister should stick to his short bits and leave the inserting of advertisements intended to catch the eye of the taxpayer to his subordinates. "I say, and don't you forget it," may answer well enough to draw attention to wares, but we submit that it is entirely out of place when it emanates from a public official.

By the timely use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, the Nerves regain their vigor, and the Brain becomes clear and powerful. Indigestion and habitual Costiveness almost always arise from weakness of the nerves and muscles of the stomach and bowels. In such cases, Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself of the greatest service by inducing healthy peristaltic action of the intestines. The evacuations soon become copious and healthy, without producing the effect of purgative medicines. *

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE COLONIST.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

IRELAND.

LONDON, June 15. — Although the County Cork is comparatively quiet bodies of troops are being sent to the districts of which Bandon is the centre. Small tenants and peasantry gather from day to day at the farms of suspects arrested under the coercion act to cut hay and earth the root crops. A collision between these mobs and local constabulary may take place at any moment. The peasantry in the neighborhood of Timolague on Court Maccherry bay, are greatly excited over the old prophecy of St. Molago, from whom the town is named. Tech Molago, the house of Molago, abbey, ruins and tombs at Timolague are among the finest in Munster, and here, according to tradition, St. Molago lived for many years. He was a saint of great renown in the county of Cork. He was born near Fermoy Temple, Molago, near Mitchell Tower. The Countess of Kingsland's estate takes its name from the church founded there on the bank of the river Tunheon. Cobermolaga is his well and Cobba Molago his bed or grave. His prophecy on the agarian agitation, which has been unearthed by some land league from a mass of local folk lore, is said to have been uttered in 1660, when the Coreagh of Cork, as its name implies, was a marsh, and when an old sceptre of McCarthy ruled the roost. I send you the current translation to show you how the agitation has become part and parcel of the superstition of the peasants: "In 1881 the stranger is undone. In Coreagh shall be seen the red beneath the green. In 1883 MacCarthy's sons shall be free. The green above the red. The lion's litter dead." This prophecy has been printed and scattered far and wide through Munster and copies of it have been sent to Irish members of parliament and and exhibited in the lobbies of the house Mr. Wm. Shaw member for county Cork says the league in Timolague and Bandon districts are using this and floating legends as campaign documents and that by these means they have persuaded hundreds of peasants to offer armed resistance to the law which they think will surely end in the extirpation of landlordism and downfall of English rule in Ireland.

RUSSIA.

BERLIN, June 16.—News from St. Petersburg states that the officers and crew of a guard shiplying off Petersoff, where the Russian Imperial family will shortly take up their residence, have discovery of a number of revolutionary proclamations on board. There have been many arrests in connection with the affair.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Rodney Fulton, aged 14, was drowned yesterday near Mission Rock by the capsizing of a boat.

The anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill was observed to-day by the firing of salutes at sunrise and at noon, a liberal display of bunting from the flagstaffs of the city and by the shipping and a largely attended picnic at Belnidut.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 16.—The friends of the Cornell university crew in London are very confident that the decision relative to the entry of the Cornell four in the race for the Visitors' Cup will be reversed.

LONDON, June 16.—The government opposed an amendment to the land bill, adding a provision that the first clause shall not apply to the tenant of any holdings which have heretofore been maintained and improved by the landlord or his predecessor in the title. The amendment was defeated by 225 to 200 and the original clause was adopted.

LONDON, June 16.—Polpostel won the Rous Memorial at Ascot, Ishmael second, and Akmalster third. Ten ran, including Don Fulano and Wallenstein. Foxhall was scratched. The ninth New Biennial Stakes was won by Okepetor; Roysterer second, Golden Eye third. Six ran, including Keene's Bookmaker.

A report is current that the certificates of Keene's Foxhall had not been lodged in Paris previous to the decision of the judges in the race for the Grand Prix de Paris.

For the New Stakes Keene won; Kingdom second. Ten ran, including Keene's General Scott.

The gold cup was won by Robert the Devil; Petronel second; Exeter third. At the start Exeter cut out for work at a moderate pace, and went along with a clear head of Robert the Devil, who was just in front of Foxhall, with Petronel and Zealot side by side next. This order was maintained to the hotel, where Robert the Devil drew close to Exeter, the pace being well in advance of the others. When a mile from home Exeter took a lead of three lengths and at the same time improved his pace. Foxhall was then clear of his former companions; Robert the Devil gradually drew up and headed Exeter on entering the straight and despite the challenge by Foxhall and Zealot won in a canter by five lengths, with a neck between Petronel and Exeter. For the St. James stake Iroquois beat Lion. Only the two mentioned ran. Foxhall finished in the Ascot Gold Cup. Race fourth—Iroquois won this race in a canter. It is reported that objections have been formally lodged against Foxhall as winner of the Grand Prix de Paris on account of informality regarding the presentation of certificates prior to that race.

PARIS, June 16—An attempt was made yesterday to blow up the statue of Theirs at St. Germain with a box of gunpowder. The statue was slightly injured. Inquiry into the outrage has been instituted.

(Per steamer Geo. E. Starr.)

Ida Kelly, of Itasca, Minn., sent a note to her lover, Sol Greismer, with whom she had quarrelled, asking him to come on a certain night and elope with her. Sol was elated by the idea of marrying her partly because he wished to triumph over her parents, who were opposed the match. He was under her window with a ladder at midnight. She came down, dressed as though for a journey, and kissed him. They sat down at a little distance from the house and discussed the question which direction to take. Ida was in Sol's lap with one arm thrown around his neck when with the disengaged hand she cut his throat with a razor. Having murdered him, as she supposed, she ran back to bed; but the wound was not mortal. It is conjectured that she intended his death to be attributed to suicide, as she was careful to regain the letter which had lured him.

A stranger from Brenham, Texas, who was helping Galveston out in the Mardi Gras business, took his watch to a watch maker to have it repaired. After a few minutes' work the watchmaker handed it back with the remark that the damages were $2. "What was the matter with it?" asked the stranger. "There was a hair in it." "Was that all:" "You ought to have found a hair mattress in for $2."—Galveston News.

A gentleman met a rather "uncertain" acquaintance the other day, when the latter said: "I'm a little short, and would like to ask you a conundrum on mental arithmetic." "Proceed," said the gentleman. "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had $10 in your pocket, and I should ask you for $5, how much would remain?" "Ten dollars," was the prompt answer.

It is remarkable what little bites a woman takes when eating in the presence of her sweetheart. What a little mouth she has then? She nibbles with her little white teeth like some dainty squirrel eating a hickory nut. But wait until wash-day comes. Watch her when she goes to hang up clothes and gets in a hurry. By the time that she gets the big ends of fifteen clothes pins hid in that mouth you will begin to think that it is a pretty good sized, hearty mouth after all.

There is not a public service in the world on so contemptible a basis as that of the United States, except, possibly, that of Turkey or Siam.—George William Curtis' Boston Lecture.

The Life of a Reporter.

Peck's Sun thus describes the life of a Bohemian:—"The average reporter, in order to get the facts with which to construct his numerous articles, must travel on an average five miles a day, or an aggregate of 1,500 miles a year. During these perambulations he asks several thousand civil questions and gets several thousand civil and uncivil answers; gets fired out of offices and houses; has dozens of doors slammed in his face; is asked 10,000 questions and returnes as many short but civil answers; gets in the circus on a promise to give it a big send off; is button holed 1,300 times by parties who desire to impart a good item about themselves; is let into several political secrets by candidates, which are barefaced boosts; is boosted by the same candidate because he did not publish the secret; is welcomed wherever his pencil will put money into people's pockets or give them a little notoriety. However, he pays five cents a glass for beer, full rate for board, top prices for clothes, either walks or pays full fare on the street cars. While others are enjoying the opera, the social party, the circus, prayer meetings, lectures, a game of poker, a turn on skates or marching with a political club the poor reporter is wrestling with a mass of chaotic facts, and endeavoring to get them into shape for you to read while you quietly dispatch your good, warm breakfast. He gets to bed at three o'clock in the morning, and, between the annoyances of flies, noisy chambermaids and pencils of sunlight boring into his eyes, he does well to snatch a couple of hours' sleep by the time he is aroused at eight o'clock to get his breakfast. At nine o'clock he reports at the top flat (headquarters) of the office, and begins the same old round. But, taking one consideration with another, the life of a reporter is not much worse than a street car driver or a policeman after all.

An Anecdote of Two Judges.

Judge Whiting was chief justice of Wisconsin about forty years ago. Judge Woodle was an associate justice. Judge Whiting was not considered a very brilliant man, but though his perceptions were sluggish, his notions were always trustworthy. Judge Whiting and Judge Woodle were traveling together, hearing appeals from nisi prius terms. They traveled on horseback and on one occasion occupied a room together. Judge Whiting had a very shapely foot (a fact which he was suspected of knowing as well as anybody). Judge Woodle had club feet (as to which he was suspected of being very sensitive). On one occasion I speak of Judge Whiting was lying stretched on the only bed there was in the room, with one of his shapely feet extending out of the bed. He looked up and saw Judge Woodle looking at the foot intently.

"What are you looking at?" said Judge Whiting.

"At your foot, Whiting," said Woodle. "And do you know, if I had your feet I would be almost willing to have your head?"

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IN ORDER THAT THE PUBLIC OF BRITISH Columbia may understand the true character of the opposition which is being waged to the successful trips of the "Western Slope" between Victoria and Yale, I deem it my duty to state that Leigh, the principal witness for the prosecution, was in the habit of getting drunk and bringing liquor on board the boat in quantities. While he was in my service my crew were often drunk. When remonstrated with he refused to do duty and left the boat at New Westminster Since he left there has been no drunkenness on board. Allen was employed on the boat as a fireman and was discharged for drunkenness; and brown, the last member of the trio, sold bogus tickets to Chinamen, was exposed and discharged.

The public can draw their own conclusions as to the value of the testimony of such men.

SPRING PARK

MINERAL WATER.

M. FINNERTY HAS DISCOVERED A VALUable Mineral Spring on his property at Spring Park Farm, 4½ miles from Victoria City. The water contains Iron and Sulphur. It has cured many ailments.

Mr. Hursk, of Victoria District, was troubled with BILLIOUSNESS and LIVER COMPLAINT and after trying all Mineral Waters drank some from Spring Park and was cured. Michael Caml, of Victoria District, had a similar experience. Mr. O'Nell, an old California miner, was bad with RHEUMATISM and found immediate relief from drinking Spring Park Water. Mr. J. Dwyer recommends it for Liver Complaint. Mr. J. S. Drummond, M.P.P., says he is acquainted with many persons who have derived from the water great benefit.

Views Along the Railway.

Mr. R. H. Maynard visited Yale last week and obtained several handsome views of the scenery and railway works, for copies of which he has placed us under renewed obligations. The views are seven in number and convey an accurate idea of the tracklaying operations, the first locomotive and tender in position on the track, the first and second tunnels out of Yale, and the powder works with Yale nestled at the foot of beetling crags in the distance. The artist has succeeded in producing pictures of great beauty and value and there should be an active demand for the set.

THE City Council of Victoria, British Columbia, delights to encourage athletic sports and burglarious intentions. At one sitting its members voted $50 for boat races, and decided that the streets should remain in darkness for two months, as gas could not be afforded.—Toronto Mail.

GRAND LODGE, F. & A. M.—The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., of British Columbia, will commence at the Temple to-day at 2 o'clock p.m. The business will include, among other things, the election of a Grand Master and other officers for the ensuing term.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Justice Robertson arrived yesterday by the Western Slope on a short visit to this city. Also, Mr. C. Morton from Nicola Valley.

THE WESTERN SLOPE PERSECUTION.

CAPTAIN MOORE AND ENGINEER HARDY FINED $200 EACH.

Laughable Predicament of the Justices—They ask Indemnity against Damages.

(Exclusive to The Colonist.)

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 17.

The charge against Cyrus Hardy, Engineer of the Western Slope, proceeded today and similar evidence as in Moore's case yesterday was offered. The Justices convicted and fined him two hundred dollars or in default three months' imprisonment.

In the charge against William Moore for carrying an excess of steam on the 9th June evidence was given by Fred Lee and James Allen. He was convicted and fined two hundred dollars; in default three months' imprisonment. Same objections were taken in both cases as on previous charge against Moore.

Davie at the conclusion said that Hardy would at once surrender himself into custody and apply for a writ of habeas corpus to Judge Crease who will arrive by the Enterprise.

The Magistrates refused to enforce conviction saying they would give two weeks for payment of penalty.

Davie said they had no power to give time and insisted that the prisoner be taken into custody so that the conviction might be tested at once. The magistrates consented to Hardy being taken into custody only on condition of an undertaking by Davie that no action should be brought against them if the conviction was quashed. The undertaking was given. Hardy is at large but is to be taken into custody when the Judge arrives.

The other charges were dismissed.

Latest from the Kamloops Country.

Mr. Chas Morton arrived yesterday on the Western Slope in 26½ hours from Spences above place. He left Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, spent the night at Lytton, Thursday night at Yale and reached this city in 11 hours from the head of navigation. He reports the crops getting along well with every prospect of an abundant harvest. Mara, Wilson & Co.'s new steamer, the Peerless, after making some very successful trips up Shuswap Lake to Spellimachene and other places, was to have left Savona's on Wednesday last for the mouth of the Bonaparte. She will there cross the Hamlin surveying party to the Cache Creek side, after which she will return to Kamloops and load for Spence's Bridge. Mr. Mara and Capt. Insley are intending to move along cautiously and slowly, surveying as they proceed toward the Bridge. The new steamer is reported to be a very beautiful vessel with a speed exceeding 16 miles an hour. The river above Yale had fallen somewhat during the last few hours. On Wednesday the water was 18 inches over the road at the 19-mile post, the lowest part of the line, and on Thursday it was seven feet below the road and still falling. Heavy rains have been very general lately east of the Cascades which have greatly benefitted the grain crops and grass.

Fun on the Bristol—Excursion Rates.

Commodore Jarrett, of the Bristol line of steamboats, has arranged for a Matinee Excursion Trip at half-rates this afternoon. The boat will leave Theatre Royal wharf punctually at 2:15 o'clock. Intending passengers should be on board at that hour, although, owing to the elastic properties of the gangplank, passengers may embark at any time during the afternoon with perfect safety. The price of tickets for the round trip is one half the usual rates:—Adults 50 cents, and children 25 cents. Lunch will be provided on board by the gentlemanly steward; and the choicest "spirits" will be served out by the ship's company. Tickets can be procured only at the wharf office, Theatre Royal. No berths will be reserved for the afternoon trip.

Population of Victoria.

The population of Victoria City (exclusive of Indians) has been ascertained by the census enumerators to be 6364. This is a much larger number than many were disposed to believe; but we have always maintained that the population was about 6500. The population of the province (exclusive of Indians) will be found to be about 25,000.

Through from Yalo in 11 Hours.

The steamer Western Slope, 11 hours from Yale, with a great crowd of passengees, 4 horses, 120 hides and 280 fish cases, arrived at 3½ o'clock yesterday afternoon.

THE MORTON HOUSE.—Mr. Charles Morton, a gentleman of large experience as a host and of great popularity in Victoria and elsewhere, has leased Mr. John Murray's premises near Spence's Bridge, and will open a first-class hotel there on the 1st of next month. The name of the new hotel is the Morton House. It stands in a thriving centre and is situated on the line of travel by rail or wagon to and from Savona. Mr. Morton has our best wishes for that success to which his geniality and amiability justly entitle him. The Morton House in his hands will be a credit to the province. Mr. John Murray will in future confine himself exclusively to the sale of merchandise.

THE London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Co. held a most successful meeting on the 22d of April. The fire insurances for the year exceeded £425,000, and the losses £287,868. After deducting all charges the profits were £110,726. The reserve fund is £210,000. Agents for British Columbia, Stahlschmidt & Ward.

DIGGINGS NEAR YALE.—Indians have struck good pay in the flats opposite Yale. They find a streak of gravel containing gold, which they pack to the river's edge and wash out, making from $3 to $5 a day each.

ANOTHER arrest for whiskey selling to Indians was effected yesterday morning by the police force and the culprit will come up before the magistrate at 11 o'clock.

ALL ABOARD for the "Bristol" this evening at Theatre Royal wharf. Positively the last trip of the season. Passengers are requested to "check" their baggage before going on board.

THE Western Slope sails punctually at one o'clock to-day for New Westminster, Yale and way ports.

WRECK ON THE NEW ZEALAND COAST.

A STEAMER STRIKES A REEF

AND ONE HUNDRED LIVES ARE LOST.

[Special to The Colonist.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.

Particulars of the wreck of the steamer Tararna are given by the Auckland Herald of May 23rd. The Tararna was a steamer belonging to the Union Company of New Zealand. She was employed on the coast of New Zealand, and was running between Melbourne and Sydney on the voyage on which she was wrecked. The Tararna had passed down the east coast of New Zealand, calling at different points, and was between Port Chalmers and the port of Dunedin, the last place of call before going to Melbourne. When the vessel first struck the sea was comparatively calm and it was thought no lives would be lost, but on account of the heavy surf that breaks on that part of the coast there are no life-boats or life-saving apparatus maintained there. One boat which went from the vessel was driven on the beach and broken, while the others could render no assistance, and were picked up at sea. A heavy swell set in and the steamer settled down on the rocks and was soon washed over by the waves. The crew and passengers huddled at last on the forecastle and in the rigging, and as they became exhausted were gradually washed into the sea. The vessel struck at 5 o'clock Friday morning. By 2 p.m. all the women and children had been washed off the forecastle. A few of the strongest men held on to the rigging till night. At 2 o'clock Saturday morning a cry was heard by those on shore as the masts fell into the sea and when morning dawned there was scarcely a vestige of the wreck visible. Between 60 and 70 bodies have come on shore most of which have been identified. A majority have been buried on a piece of ground on the coast. About 130 lives were lost.

Fun on the "Bristol."

This delightful piece was repeated last evening to another overflowing house. Popular interest in the play is by no means diminished and every effort is put forth by the company to please their patrons. Mr. Sheridan as the widow was again overpoweringly witty and roars of laughter followed every sally. As the swell British Captain and the Jew with the tinpan accompaniment his make up was remarkably good and irresistibly funny. Mr. Courtright's Ethiopian delineations were very original and natural. The ease with which he accomplishes his remarkable changes and the mirth which his every movement provokes render him an invaluable member of the company. Misses Castleton, Halleck and Kaine added to their well earned laurels by the delightful manner in which they performed their several parts. Their singing was especially good; that of Miss Halleck as Marguerite in Faust being of a very high class indeed, and earning the "fayre ladye" a warm encore. Mr. Dunbar in his several roles is one of the most valuable members of this excellent company, and his exquisite playing on the pipe will long linger like a sweet memory with those who heard him. Mr. Waldon, as Captain Cranberry and Mephistopheles, was a great success. Mr. Tannehill, as the bashful young man, was as perfect as usual, and Mr. Calice as Sparks, Faust and Camp-an-out-a (Campanini, the great Italian tenor) made a marked impression last evening. The curtain rang down amid enthusiastic plaudits. The piece will be repeated this afternoon and evening for the last time in Victoria.

YALE.—Inland Sentinel.—The enterprise of Messrs. Mara & Wilson, of Kamloops, in securing the railway contract for flour for the line is a step in the right direction, and we trust the day will soon arrive when this province will have to depend less upon California, Oregon, etc. The tidal wave is now taking the right direction and as settlers come in the importance and power of the inland country will correspondingly increase.... Messrs. Deighton and Pearson officiated yesterday as a board of magistrates and granted licenses to Peter Billadeux, Emory; Ruben Elley, Railroad House, Yale; Bossi & Valletti, corner Front and Douglas streets, Yale.... Bishop Sillitoe and lady are expected by to-day's boat; they purpose remaining at Yale a few days before going up country.... Hon. Mr. Trutch arrived Sunday and proceeded up the line next day.... Yale has held its first concert in the B. C. Express Co.'s hall. It would seem to have been a very pleasant affair and the projectors realized a goodly sum for the benefit of the orphans.

THE CROPS IN SAANICH.—Long continued cold weather till within a few days past has had a detrimental effect on the crops, particularly the hay. Timothy has headed out without either being tall or forming a thick bottom. It is too far advanced now for the warm weather to be of much benefit. This crop therefore will be considerably below the average. On the grain crops, however, the warm weather is rapidly telling, although there has not yet been much genial sunshine the grain is fast assuming a healthy color and a more luxuriant growth. Grain prospects are therefore much in advance of what they were a few days ago.

THE TREASURY.—"I say and don't you forget it," bawled a taxpayer into the Finance Minister's ear yesterday. "Forget what?" was the indignant query. "Forget that I have paid my taxes; and that its strange, but nevertheless true," replied the taxpayer as he slammed the door and walked briskly off.

LAUNCH OF A STEAMBOAT.—The new Through to Yale steamboat of the Pioneer line will be launched from Moore's ways about 8 o'clock this evening. The name, which is kept a profound secret, will be announced as the steamboat glides off into the water.

THE revised edition of the New Testament don't appear to "take." There is not much danger of the pedantic concern coming into general use among Christians; but there is real danger of the belief of many in the correctness of the old edition being greatly shaken if not entirely destroyed.

THE G. D. steamer Sir James Douglas went over to Race Rocks yesterday with lighthouse supplies. In a few days she will commence taking down material for the fog whistle building.

THE usual basket picnic of the farmers of South Saanich will be held July 1st, Dominion Day. Great preparations are in progress.

OUTLAWRY AT KOOTENAY.

A PRIEST AND A CITIZEN BRUTALLY ASSAULTED.

Kootenay district still maintains its old reputation for lawlessness. Situated contiguous to the boundary a person who may have committed a crime on either side of the line has only to cross to the other and be secure from arrest. A few months ago an American named Jenkins entered British Columbia at Kootenay and engaged to assist in the construction of a grist mill for Father Fouquet. After working for some time, without the slightest provocation he made a violent assault on the reverend gentleman, at the same time using foul language and employing the most disgraceful threats. He then crossed to a house where a citizen resided to whom he owed some money, and assaulted that person with a stick, cutting his head severely and pursuing him with threats of a horrible character. The citizen's offence lay in asking Jenkins for a settlement. After perpetrating these outrages it was with the greatest difficulty that Father Fouquet restrained the Indians from attacking the desperado. The Government Agent was appealed to, but gave no satisfaction. Father Fouquet accordingly started for Victoria, arriving here about two weeks ago. He has had interviews with the Attorney General and laid before him all the correspondence; but he has thus far been unable to get any redress, or promise of redress, from that functionary. Indeed, receipt of his last communication, submitted several days ago, has not been acknowledged. Jenkins, it is said, has committed a crime on his own side of the line. Father Fouquet, on the other hand, is a zealous missionary, who possesses great influence over the savage tribes of Kootenay. He has maintained a successful mission in the district; has kept the native tribes on terms of amity with the whites, and taught many of them the useful pursuits of civilized life. He is entitled to every protection at the hands of the authorities, and we trust that he will receive it. At least he is entitled to the courtesy of an answer to a communication which seriously affects the peace and well being of our border district.

THE EXPLORATION OF HOWSE PASS.

News of the Rogor Party.

Information has been received at Kamloops from the Messrs. Rogers, the syndicate exploring party. Seven of the Indians engaged had returned stating that after going through the Eagle Pass and crossing the Columbia the party proceeded up the Illecilleroat, which empties into the Columbia opposite the head of the Eagle river. After getting up into the Selkirk range in the elbow of the river they were stopped by the snow and had to retrace their steps back to the Columbia where the seven Indians were paid off, and with the other two the Messrs. Rogers went down the river to Colville. Here they are purposing to lay in a further supply and make another effort to cross the Selkirk range and get to Howse Pass. The prevailing impression is that the route through the Selkirk is impracticable and that therefore the whole project must be ultimately abandoned.

Lively Scene in Parliament.

There seems to be some danger that the members of the House of Commons may fall into the pugnacious as well as the noisy habits of the French deputies. There was a wordy encounter on Monday last between Lord Randolph Churchill and the Marquis of Hartington over the alleged cutting down of Sir Frederick Roberts' reward for his services in Afghanistan from £20,000 to £12,000, which attracted much comment at the time. The affair did not end in the House. The Marquis of Hartington, amid the vehement cheers of his followers, denounced Lord Randolph Churchill for making dishonorable insinuations, based on a paragraph published in a paper noted for calumnies and lying statements. The noble Marquis' manner while making his reply was as bellicose and insulting as his words. It was felt by all who witnessed the scene that the Marquis of Hartington had over stepped the limits of the privilege of debate. Lord Randolph Churchill took this view, and feeling outraged in his honor resolved to demand satisfaction according to the code. It has now transpired that he sent his friend to the Marquis of Hartington with a demand that a written assurance should be given him that the words "calumnious and lying" were not directed at him. The alternative was "pistols and coffee." After some parley the Marquis of Hartington agreed to write a letter in which he stated that the offensive words were not intended to apply to Lord Randolph Churchill. The incident is a decided score for the vivacious member for Woodstock.

DEATH IN THE COFFEE POT.—The public are cautioned against purchasing imported California ground coffee. Its cheapness is its only recommendation. The ingredients are of the vilest description, as anyone using it will discover should he examine the grounds. During the perihelia of the planets people should be careful what they eat and drink. Don't allow your grocer to palm off his trash upon you, because it pays him better to sell it than the good article. Ask for FELL & Co.'s Coffee and take no other. *

CHINA AND JAPAN.

The Usual Letter from Beyond the Pacific by the last Chinese Steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—A letter per city of Pekin says: In Pekin on the 23d and 24th of April a disturbance took place at the house of the American missionary, who was on the eve of his departure from the capital and was selling his effects by auction. During the sale a large number of rowdies entered the house and grounds and were disposed to injure the property. On being requested to leave the crowd went outside but soon returned. The American minister, Mr. Angell, was informed of the affair and communicated with Tsung Le Yamen, and a message was received from the minister that steps would be taken in the morning to prevent further trouble. On the 24th the governor of the city appeared with a company of soldiers and arrested the ringleaders, when the mob dispersed. Forty soldiers were left to protect the premises, although the disturbance was virtually ended and was without serious result or political significance.

Since the arrival in Pekin of Tso Tsung Tang, who holds opinions antagonistic to foreigners, there has been a feeling of excitement which has undoubtedly been increased by the death of the eastern empress and illness of the emperor.

It is stated that Hart, superintendent of Chinese foreign customs, goes to Europe in connection with the railroad scheme lately discussed by Li Hung Chang and Tso Tsung Tang.

During the first two weeks in May the W. H. Besse, P. J. Carleton and N. Boynton sailed from Hongkong for Portland, and the Minnie Carvill for San Francisco, leaving in berth the Taunton for Portland, and St. Vincent for Portland or San Francisco.

A party of ten Corean officials with a large suite has arrived in Tokio, their object being to study the development of western improvement in Japan. The visit results from a conflict between the progressive and anti-foreign opinion in Corea. The king is reported to favor advancement and every facility will be offered by the Japanese government for instruction of the Corean mission.

Large amounts of silver yen are being coined at the Osaki mint for the Chinese Government, supposed to be for payment of Russian indemnity. Russian officials fearing that Chinese sycee or weight of silver may be adulterated.

The silk crop in Kakuda has suffered seriously from blight of mulberry trees and frosts have caused destruction of silk worms.

Tea business continues to be very brisk. The City of Pekin takes a full cargo and more vessels than ever before will be dispatched to New York by the Suez canal.

Shares in the grand national railway scheme are being eagerly subscribed for, government officials gladly investing their savings.

TORONTO, June 2.—The Rev. Mr. Gibb, who had a paralytic stroke while ministering in the pulpit of the Congregational church at Bowmanville on Sunday last, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. William McMurtyr.

BELMONT, June 2.—A young lady, daughter of the late Donald and Mrs. Taylor, committed suicide here yesterday by taking strychnine. She has been married only a few months to Mr. Joseph Moore. Family trouble is supposed to have been the cause. The drug was obtained from the family physician by representing that it was to poison rats. This is the third sudden death in the family within a year. First her father was kicked and killed by a horse; her mother died at childbirth, and she by poisoning. The family are wealthy and well connected. An inquest was held to-day by Dr. Clark, coroner, Aylmer, and Dr. Campbell, coroner, Belmont. A verdict was returned according to above.

MONTREAL, June 3.—It is said that the returns to the Department of agriculture show that the immigration to Canada and the North-West has never been before so great.

Mr. Perry, of Montreal, who has the contract for erecting the water columns at the St. Lawrence & Ottawa Railway depot, has been obliged to pay as high as $2.25 per day for carpenters and $1.25 per day for labourers. Even at those high prices he experienced difficulty in getting the required number of hands.

BELLEVILLE, June 1.—The elopement case came before the Police Magistrate this morning, James Jameson being charged with stealing money and some articles of furniture, the property of James Wells, of Montreal. He was remanded for a week, bail being refused. Mr. Wells claims that his wife stole from him $3,800 and a quantity of property, but she claims that the money and property were her own.

WINNIPEG, June 2.—The first supply of the new buffalo robes has arrived from the West. They were bought from a trader, who arrived yesterday from Wood Mountain. He reports them as very scarce this year.

The sale of leases in the new Syndicate town of Brandon, at Grand Valley, was an immense success, the musical pavilion being crowded. There were 194 lots sold, realizing an aggregate of $25,777.

OTTAWA, June 2.—Hon. J. C Pope is out of danger.

The Liberals of Colchester met yesterday in convention and nominated Mr. Cummings, of Londonderry as their candidate. The feeling at the meeting was one fixed and hopeful determination to win, and the result is not by any means a forgone conclusion. In Pictou the Conservatives have not yet fixed on a candidate.

The St. Lawrence tunnel at Montreal now bids fair to become an accomplished engineering feat.

It is said that the Governor-General intends to establish a Canadian Literary Academy somewhat similiar to the Academie Francaise.

The Liberals of Quebec are making arrangements for the proposed banquet to Hon. E. Blake, to take place toward the close of the month.

The Scott Act has been quashed in the county of Lambton because the voting on its adoption took place on the same day as an election in the county for the Local Legislature.

WHYTHE WEPT.

Revival of a Brilliant Falsehood.

A brilliant lie has been invented to account for the Princess Stephanie's very pretty and natural display of emotion at her magnificent wedding in Vienna, writes the New York World in contradiction to a N. Y. Telegraph cable which has enjoyed a wide circulation. It is to the effect that the Princess was in love with an enterprising American whom she did not see, but who saw her, and at a small expense, at the French Exposition of 1878 for a minute and a half, while the lovers' good angel, in the form of a voluble Yankee, buttonholed her papa and explained to him at tremendous length the merits of a patent mower and reaper. As the Princess had then attained the nature age of 14, nothing is more likely than that in a minute and a half she should have received from her unobserved admirer an impression which will make the imperial throne whenever she ascends it as comfortless as the black haircloth sofa of a New England best room. It is a touching as well as a brilliant lie. Yet it is not new.

It was first heard of apropos of the young Queen of England, who was represented forty years ago as consumed with a hopeless passion, not for one but for several Americans—one of them still a prominent resident of the city of Philadelphia. The publication of the Queen's diary has not sufficed to convince Philadelphia that Lord Melbourne did not force the Queen to the altar at the point of the sword of state, or that the Archbishop of Canterbury did not cry out, "Strike up, choristers!" to drown her tearful "No," uttered in answer to his question whether she, Victoria, would wed the man Albert.

The True Singer Machine.

The undersigned respectfully informs the public of British Columbia that he has now on hand a large number of the True Singer Sewing Machines of different styles, which are of recent manufacture and have all the late improvements and attachments, making them capable of performing any description of work in the best and most rapid manner. It is proper that I again caution the public against being deceived by the representations in the advertisement of another agent, who pretends to offer Singer Machines at a ridiculously low price, which machines are represented to be equal to the True Singer Machines. These inferior machines are known to the trade as being poor indeed, and can be sold at $20 each, and even then have very few purchasers, as they are merely a cheap Canadian machine, endeavoring, to some extent, to imitate the True Singer Machine. Every machine I sell or send on trial is guaranteed both in price and quality, and the True Singer Machine at $50 is the lowest price at which it can be imported direct from the factory and sold in this market. Owing to the patents for all sewing machines having run out four or five years ago, companies have sprung up in every part of the Union for making an "Imitation Singer Machine." Why are not similar companies formed for making imitations of other Sewing Machines? The public will draw its own inference. Gold is continually counterfeited; brass and tin never! Hence the reason why the Singer has been imitated. I am prepared at any time to prove, by trials of the respective machines made in Montreal and those manufactured by the Original Singer Machine Company, that the Montreal Singer, which is advertised for $35, cannot and does not perform the work of the True Singer Machine sold by me.
